

CITB – Site Supervisor Safety Training Scheme

Course Reference: SSSTS/003/SFB

What's the course all about? The nationally recognised Construction Industry Training Board (CITB) Construction Skills Site Safety Plus accredited SSSTS training course is an essential part of modern-day site supervisor's safety training.

What will I learn? This two-day course provides supervisors with an understanding of health, safety, welfare and environmental issues as well as their legal responsibilities relevant to their work activities.

Exactly What Will I Do? The aim of this course is to ensure that all those given supervisory responsibilities understand:

- Why they are carrying out their identified duties
- What is expected of them
- That they contribute to the safety of the workplace.

At the end of the course delegates will be able to:

- Understand the problems of the industry
- Have an understanding of how health and safety law is structured and how it applies to supervisors
- Identify how their role fits in with the management structure in controlling site safety
- Carry out risk assessments and understand the need for method statements
- Carry out effective site inductions, toolbox talks and method statement briefings
- Monitor site activities effectively
- Understand the importance of timely intervention when bad practice is identified.

Delegates will be required to complete a multi-choice question paper, as well as being interactive during the course.

Who should attend? Anyone who works on site in construction at a supervisory level, or who is about to acquire supervisory responsibilities for onsite work.
